Project Background

Somalia has gone through three decays of destructive internecine wars. The central government collapsed. The meager infrastructure has been devastated in the process. Education like health has not been a priority among the hostile local administration established. This situation prompted social malaise like piracy, exodus of the educated from the country, religious extremism, lawlessness and any imaginable crime of a country whose younger generation a correction education.

Project Justification

As is known, Somalia has been in turmoil for the last three decades with no capable central government. This prompted a major setback in the education of the youth who in desperation contributed to anti-social practices like piracy, rape, delinquency and other kinds of crime in the major cities. This can only be reversed by creating opportunities through education which empowers them to have qualification that assimilates them in the local job market.

Shafshafo for Relief and Development is supporting many educational institutions like Puntland University for Science and Technology and other basic educational institutions.
